LOYOLA COLLEGE, MONTREAL, CANADA

THURSDAY, MAY 9, 1946

CHURCH, STATE HONOR LOYOLA

His Grace Archbishop Joseph Charbonneau, D.D., who will chant the Pontifical High Mass for the Graduation Services on June 3rd.

Eminent Churchmen To Attend Convocation

Archbishop Charbonneau And Bishop Whelan To Officiate At Morning Mass

Loyola College, which in its fifty years of existence has welcomed and been associated with great names of Church and State, will celebrate most fittingly the conclusion of its anniversary year by playing host to His Grace, Archbishop Joseph Charbonneau and His Excellency Bishop Lawrence Whelan. This will be the first time that two such eminent leaders of the Church have together honoured the College with their presence at a single event and their gracious consent to be present on this day pays great tribute to Loyola's importance as a trainer of Catholic thought, and will most certainly lend to the day a solemnity and dignity worthy of its illustrious past.

His Excellency, Archbishop Charbonneau, whose support of the College has always been great indeed, will sing a Pontifical High Mass, while Bishop Whelan will give the Baccalaureate address to the graduates. The Mass itself will be celebrated on June 3rd, at 9.15 a.m. on the Loyola Campus where a special altar will be erected for the occasion. It has been decided to hold the services outdoors, the weather permitting, and many friends of the College are expected to join with us in the celebration of this auspicious occasion.

REVIEW NOTE

For the first time in many years, the students may expect the Review on the morning of Convocation. The staff has been hard at work, preparing material, and all signs point to a banner publication. Since this is the Golden Jubilee year of the College, short histories of all its organizations will be included, as well as many other novel and interesting features.

Great Jubilee Events Planned

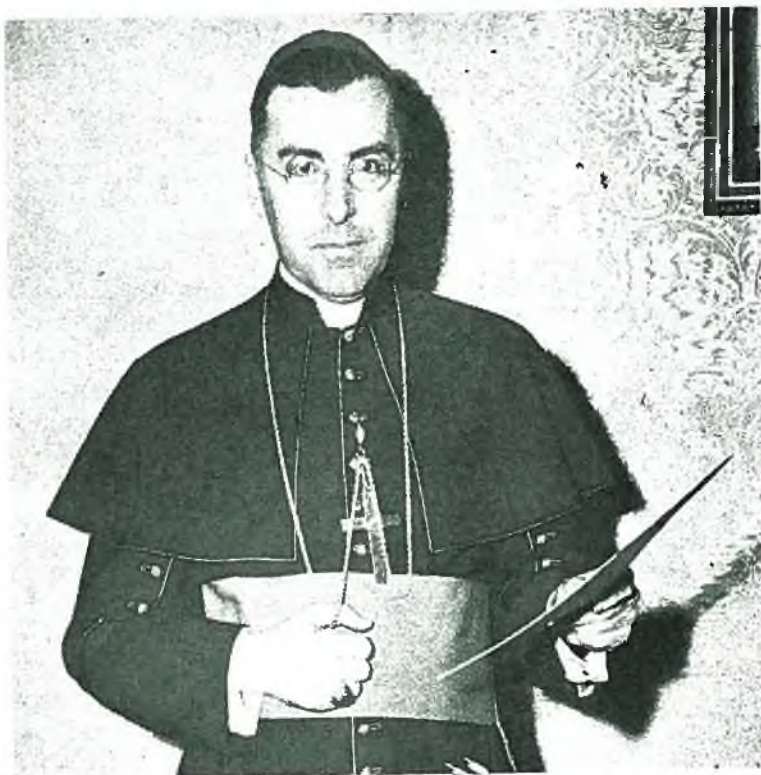

By far the most important date of this fiftieth jubilee year at Loyola will be Convocation Day, June third. To mark the occasion of this College graduating its fiftieth class, a day, ever to be remembered, has been planned. In the morning, his Excellency, Archbishop Joseph Charbonneau, D.D., will sing a Pontifical High Mass at a specially constructed altar on the College Campus, where it is expected that an exceptionally large number of Parents, Alumni, Friends and Students will attend. The Baccalaureate sermon will be preached by his Excellency Bishop Whelan, as the crowning point of this momentous year is achieved, when two high prelates of the Church will together take part in the Convocation ceremonies.

It is believed that Very Rev. John L. Swain, S.J., Provincial of the Upper Canadian Province of the Society of Jesus, will also grace us with his presence. Should weather forbid the fine outdoor services that are planned, they will be held in the Stadium.

Evening of this great day will see the granting of Degrees and the awarding of prizes. After this exercise, the Guest of Honour, Canada's new Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, will deliver his eagerly awaited address to the graduating class. His Excellency, Archbishop Charbonneau, will attend this function, as well as numerous other honoured guests.

This Fiftieth Jubilee year has seen Loyola attain a new stature which we feel sure would surprise greatly those who were present at her first convocation. That the main event of the year should be a Convocation Day which will far surpass all others is most fitting indeed. The College would have it made clear that all alumni and friends will be most welcome to attend any of the various exercises.

It has been announced at the Rector's office that Field Marshal the Right Honourable Viscount Alexander, G.C.M.G., G.C.B., G.C.S.I., D.S.O., M.C., Canada's newly appointed Governor General will be the guest speaker at this year's Jubilee Convocation. Scene Of Formal Set For Beaconsfield

Juniors Play Host Monday, June 3rd

The executive of the Junior Class has been laboring mightily for weeks, and now report that their plans for the Convocation Formal are all set. President Champ Camirand has stated that the affair will get under way at 11.00 at Beaconsfield Golf Club, on the evening of Convocation Day, June 3rd. Kel Mann of Frosh Science and his band, which made such a hit at the Freshman dance, will be in attendance to supply the musical background.

Since attendance is by invitation only, the tickets, retailing for a reasonable sum, have been limited. The tickets will be distributed by the Junior Class Executive, and all interested in attending the outstanding social function of the College years, are urged to contact the boys in the very near future.

the invitation tendered him to address this year's graduates. Among the great military leaders of this war he stands out as perhaps its most brilliant strategist. He became commander-in-chief of the Middle East Theatre just before El Alamein and shortly afterwards when the tide of victory turned towards the Allies in Africa he became the Field Commander of General Eisenhower. Successive steps brought him to the post of Commander-in-chief in Italy, and then to the overall command of the Mediterranean Theatre where the close of the war found him.

Honours too numerous to mention were bestowed upon him by England as well as most of the other Allied countries, and he emerged from the war well known the world over as one of the ablest generals of our time. Towards the close of last year Canada heard with great pleasure that he was to be her new Governor General, and now among the first appearances that he will make in this country will be his attendance at Convocation here on June 3rd.

Viscount Alexander is the third Governor General to visit Loyola in the course of her history. The Duke of Connaught inspected the C.O.T.C. in 1915, while Baron

'Viscount Alexander'

That war is an evil, all men admit. But none can deny that it is usually the need caused by national emergencies which include war that produces the great men of history. This greatest of wars brought to a victorious conclusion such a short time ago was instrumental in uncovering to the gaze of the world men who will doubtless be recognized for all time as being among history's greats. Among these we do not hesitate to name probably the most brilliant soldier of the war, Field-Marshal, the Right Honourable Viscount Alexander of Tunis.

Whenever memories spring to mind of those dark days in the early part of the conflict, and that momentous day in June 1942, the turning point of the struggle when we commenced to advance rather than retire, while at El Alemein the superb army of General Rommel was halted and sent scurrying back across the desert, General Sir Harold Alexander stands out as one who was primarily responsible for this change of fortune. Afterwards in the long tedious struggle that ensued before final victory was assured, his genius was demonstrated on numberless occasions, again and again. His name will always remain in the hearts of the troops he commanded, and of the world he helped free from tyranny and oppression.

Canada is indeed fortunate, for now this warrior has assumed a different role. For now he represents His Majesty the King to twelve million of his loyal Canadian subjects. Once again Rideau Hall is the home of a truly excellent man and his fine Christian family.

Loyola too is very fortunate, to have him as its guest on the occasion of its fiftieth anniversary, as are its class of '46, to be addressed at their graduation, by such an outstanding man . . .

'Loyola's Golden Jubilee'

This year is golden jubilee year at Loyola. For Loyola College, the first English-speaking Jesuit college in Canada, will celebrate its fiftieth birthday this year. Started in 1896 in downtown Montreal under the rectorship of Father O'Bryan S.J., with a small student body and limited facilities, Loyola has grown steadily until it now accommodates over one thousand students, and offers both Science and Art courses. Loyola has long since moved from its original setting, and what started out with a lone building, now includes a series of five buildings surrounded by spacious campi. The present buildings on Sherbrooke Street are a glowing tribute to the progress of English Catholic education in the city of Montreal.

During its fifty years of promoting the cause of Catholic education, Loyola has performed immeasurable service to the citizens of Montreal by providing the city with many of its outstanding leaders. For from its halls has flowed a steady stream of trained young men who now serve our community as priests, doctors, businessmen or in the various other capacities which they may pursue. Men trained to serve their fellow citizens by serving their God. Men, in brief, trained to be good citizens of society.

Loyola stands today at the edge of a greater and more glorious future. The first fifty years have been but a preparation. The next half century will see Loyola College grow and develop in size and strength. Graduates in ever increasing numbers will issue from its halls. But though the quantity may change, the quality that was present fifty years ago will still be present fifty years hence. They will always be "Loyola" men.

Robert Joyce '43, Will Teach At U. Of St. Louis

Mr. Robert Joyce, graduate of the Class of 1943, and for the past three years a Professor here at his Alma Mater, informs us that he is leaving the College, and will continue his pedagogical career at the University of St. Louis, where he is going to instruct in Economics.

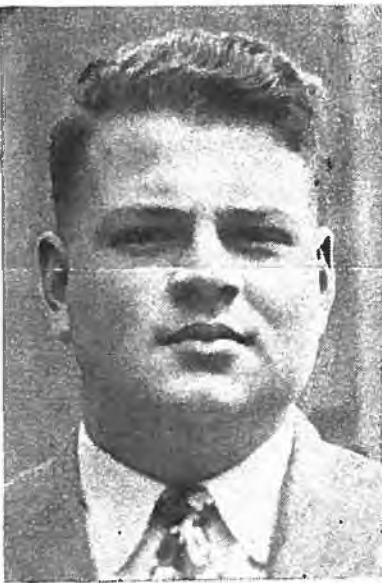

He will take up his new duties in the Fall of this year. When he leaves for St. Louis. His many friends here at the College will miss him deeply, and we are sure that they join the News in wishing Mr. Joyce every success in his chosen career.

Camirand Student Body President

It has been announced by the executive of the C.S.R. that Lorne Camirand, popular president of this year's Junior class, has been elected to fill the post of President of Senior class and of the Student Body next year.

The elections were held in the Philosophers' Class, on Friday afternoon, May 3rd. Those nominated besides the new president, were John Callaghan and Cliff Malone.

Lorne "Champ" Camirand succeeds this year's president, Rog.

PRES. LORNE CAMIRAND

Carriere. "Champ's" great ability, which has been proved through two terms as president; one as the prexy of Sophomore—the other as the Fuhrer of Junior, and his well-deserved popularity, ensure the full co-operation of the entire Student Body.

The News takes this opportunity to congratulate Loyola's 'Truman' and to wish him every success in his new duties.

Alumni To Be Ordained Soon

Four members of the Society of Jesus who formerly taught at Loyola will be ordained this June. Three of them are at present stationed at Toronto, while the fourth, Mr. David Stanley, S.J., is at St. Mary's, Kansas. Those at Toronto are Mr. Thomas Doyle, S.J., Mr. Joseph McDonough, S.J., who were both at Loyola from 1940 to 1943, and Mr. Paul Hoppe, S.J., who taught at Loyola from 1941 to 1943. Mr. Stanley was Moderator of the Dramatic Society in 1942 and 1943, and was largely responsible for the success of "Who Ride on White Horses", and "Macbeth", while Mr. Doyle is a former coach of the Senior High Football Team.

Because of the lack of space in this issue, we were unable to include in our "News Under The Shower", "Nosey Notes" and "Flat-tops". However these articles have been mimeographed so that the students may still have the pleasure of reading them.

Under the Tower

with Russ Breen

On Sunday afternoon I sat down by my typewriter to write for the last time, the column Under The Tower. For one complete hour I wondered how I could put into words the feelings that were innermost in the Loyola man, about to leave his Alma Mater after eight happy, history making years on this Campus. I then realized how difficult or rather how impossible it was to express satisfactorily in words what was imbedded deep in the heart. Every day that passes brings us closer to the goal to which we have aimed for eight years—it hastens the realization of a dream that every undergraduate student experiences. But as we approach that goal, instead of being elated that the second chapter of our lives is drawing successfully (we hope) to a close our joy rather is mixed with sorrow that we must leave the college where we have spent the happiest and most important days of our lives—the days of our formation.

The eight year chaps who will be leaving this year are fortunate in that they have attended Loyola before and during the period of transition. We have watched her grow from the small but well reputed classical college to the large and most famous English speaking Catholic College in Canada. During the past eight years the registration has increased from 400 to over 1,000 students in the High School and College. Keeping time with this increase has been the progress of the different societies and organizations on the Campus. The Dramatic Society for the past eight years beginning with Yellow Jack and ending with Traitors' Gate, has staged such hits as to be classified by many as the best amateur group in Montreal.

The Committee of Student Representatives formed three years ago forms a tangible link between the faculty and the students. The Sodality, which reached an all time high in quality and quantity some six years ago, is again slowly returning to its traditional status as the top organization at Loyola. The locally famous three-minute club, this year, has increased in numbers and enthusiasm throughout the High School. From all indications the Friday morning Mass should see more and more students in attendance next year. (Probably with the traditional fifteen cents breakfast.)

The Senior High School football team and the Senior College hockey team again walked away with league honors, the former in the Catholic Section and the latter in the Inter-Collegiate Inter-Provincial League. A definite increase in Intra-mural Sports next year would be a step in the right direction. The formation of a much needed Constitution by the L.C.A.A. is an indication of the growth in importance and responsibility of the Athletic Association about Loyola in recent years.

And now we would be remiss were we to fail to mention the progress made by the News in the past eight years. For sixteen years the News was composed of mimeographed sheets filled with the Loyola tradition. Then in 1940, a turning point in the History of the Loyola News, John Doyle, the energetic and farseeing Editor of the College paper, for the first time had the News printed continuously. John, who has since been killed in air operations over Europe, was one of the hardest workers the News has ever had. He was also as successful on the gridiron and ice as he was with the News. He was a student filled with the Loyola tradition. If, during the past eight years we have been able to acquire part of that spirit that John has left behind him, we are very proud. For it is men such as he and his successors, John Brayley, Frank Higgins and Jack O'Brien who are responsible for the gradual evolution of this college paper to its present stage.

This year, whatever success may have been achieved in bringing 13 issues to the students, it is due to the fine co-operation and spirit of hard work shown by a great staff. Whenever there was work to be done there they were even if it meant remaining until the early hours of the morning. It is such a spirit of unselfish co-operation on the part of the staff that makes it all the more difficult for 'Tower' to sign off.

So to Bob and the rest of the staff, my parting word is Farewell but not Good-bye

Editors Note:—

Editor's Note: The congratulations of the News staff are extended to: Father Noll, producer of the Dramatic Society's recent stage hit, for his untiring efforts in making "Traitor's Gate" the outstanding success it achieved.

Miss Eileen Gibbons, College Registrar, who has again returned to the College after a short illness.

Father Phelan, Anthony Milladge and his staff for their hard work on the special jubilee issue of the Review which will be issued to the students on Convocation Day.

'TRAITORS' GATE' HIGHLY PRAISED

Traditions Maintained By Excellent Production

Above are Frank Higgins, as Sir Thomas More, and Don Brown, as Miss Peg. Clement, More's favourite daughter, in a cell of the Tower of Lon'on. This is one of the more touching scenes from our recent stage hit, "Traitors' Gate."

Perhaps it is only fitting that, in 1946, our Jubilee year, the Dramatic Society presented what is in some respects, the most remarkable play ever produced at Loyola.

A great deal of the credit must necessarily go to Mr. John Ready, under whose diligence and brilliant direction, Loyola Dramatic Society added another jewel to its crown of successes. It is with sincere regret that Loyola bids goodbye to a great director and a very fine man.

Nor would we be fulfilling our obligations were we lax in our gratitude to one who apparently wishes to remain unnoticed. With any play, there are countless responsibilities to be borne—props to be acquired, costumes arranged for, make-up, supervising stage crew, lighting, seats, ushers. This somewhat Herculean task was most ably managed by Rev. F. W. Noll, S.J.

John Walsh, as Dame Alice, turned in an entirely convincing performance. His interpretation of the bustling, unintellectual English matron, was one of the more humorous sides of the play.

The obvious difficulties of a female rôle were gracefully managed by Donald Brown, as Peg Clement. As More's best-loved daughter, he displayed definite ability. In the final act, under particular strain he gave a very fine and moving performance.

John Buell's easy, natural manner and fine stage voice were more than adequate in the rôle of John Clement. If his performance is any indication of his ability, he will doubtlessly appear in future productions.

Another newcomer to the Loyola stage, Donald Leahy, while perhaps not quite so skilled in portraying feminine characters as Donald Brown, nevertheless carried a difficult part in a manner much to his credit. William Roper, her husband, was capably managed by Hugh Power. Although perhaps a trifle young-looking in the rôle, his interpretation of the character was commendable.

The return of Louis Fortin in the rôle of Thomas Howard, was an event worthy of anticipation. His reputation as one of Loyola's finest actors, already established in previous plays, was quite in accordance with his clever and convincing portrayal of a member of the Court of Henry VIII. Although his rôle was a minor one, his finished performance added greatly to the success of the play.

The arrogant Thomas Cromwell became a reality under the impressive portrayal by Joe Roney.

Robert Boyle as an aged, and morally weak Nicholas Wilson, revealed an altogether hidden side of his talents.

Paul Orr, in the rôle of Solicitor General Rich makes but one brief appearance in the last act. However, all who saw the play are agreed that his portrayal of that unscrupulous and furtive aide to the king was most effective, and that he has shown himself a truly accomplished actor once again.

Eric Howard and Kenneth Johnson in the rôles of Palmer and

Mothers Help Play

Cast Feted and Fed by Guild

In the past we have never had much to do with the Mothers' Guild, but always esteemed it a very worthy organization. But ever since the play, we have wondered about whether the mothers had to pass special cooking tests to get on the executive. Certainly judging from the quantities of food these good ladies supplied to the crowd of hungry actors after rehearsals and performances testify to a high degree of excellence.

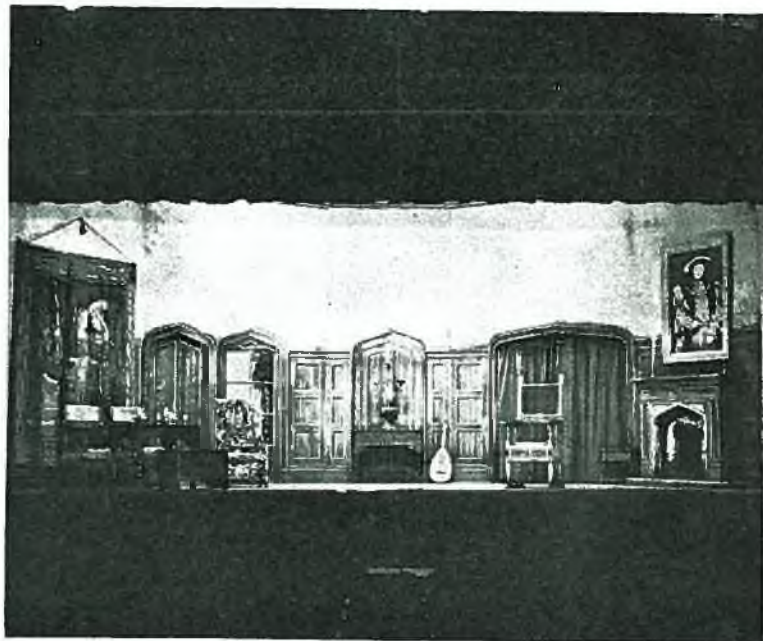

The variety of delicacies provided, particularly after every executive meeting of the guild, was inspiring as well as fattening. Those meetings are good things, and should certainly be encouraged. But now we know why Loyola Boys look so well fed.

Southwell, two hirelings of Rich were convincing.

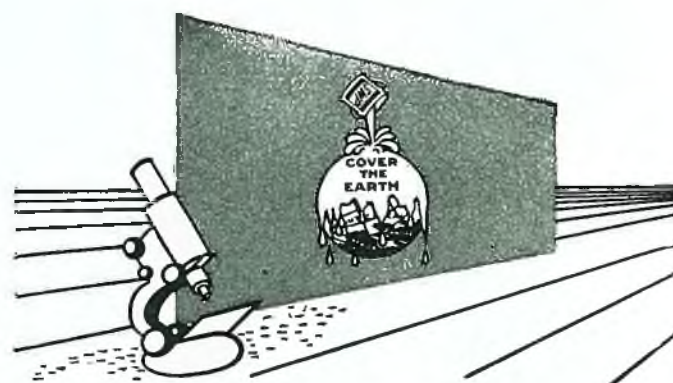

It is with some relish that we turn to the splendid performance given by Frank Higgins as Sir Thomas More. To some extent, the most accomplished actor ever produced by Loyola, and with several fine portrayals to his credit, Frank Higgins displayed most remarkable ability in a rôle that was both long and exacting. Not once in the long course of the production did he reveal himself to be anything but a finished actor. In a rôle that could have easily been overplayed, he gave a consistently restrained performance. His voice, his gestures, his appearance, were as perfect as the playwright could have desired. Possessed of a deep, cultured voice, and rare ability, he carried the play; in the midst of fine performances, he was outstanding. By way of final tribute, it is our opinion that nothing finer can be said than simply, he WAS Sir Thomas More.

The settings were particularly noteworthy. Ingeniously designed by Father Bryan, and painted by Hans Berends, they gave reality to the illusion that is a play. The lighting was extremely well done, particularly in the final scenes, where the effect was worthy of professional production.

COLLEGE SOPHOMORE in straightened financial circumstances, finds he must part with his excellent Remington Portable. Reasonable price will be considered. Box 300, Loyola News.

Orr Heads Debating Society

The annual elections for presidency of the Loyola Literary and Debating Society took place on Friday, May 3. Three members of the class of '47 were nominated for president, they were Paul La-berge, Yves Menard, and Paul Orr. Paul Orr received the majority vote from the members of the L.L.D.S., consisting of the classes of '47 and '48.

Paul will officially take over the reins of the society from Joseph White, this year's president, on family night which will be held this month. Paul is an excellent debater and a very able executive. His experience should serve him well in his new role and make for another successful debating year.

S.S.C.A. Here June 24th-29th

This year, the summer school returns again to Montreal and will be situated in its former grounds at Loyola College. Scheduled to run from June 24 to the 29th., Fr. Lords Summer School will have an outstanding curriculum of studies, with lectures on the practical aspects of Catholic Action, Convert Making, Radio, Marriage, Cana Conferences, Credit Unions and youth guidance.

Prof. Drouin At Loyola 30 Years

There is a saying to the effect that music hath charm to soothe the savage beast. How true that is we are not to judge, but we do know that everyone, no matter how rustic, has a love for music. No matter what the attraction be, whether an athletic event, a dramatic presentation or a social gathering, music is always a necessary feature. Loyola, realizing its importance hired a master of many instruments, and an artist at molding an unpolished group of musical hopefuls into a finished orchestra. That was in 1916, and the man was Professor Drouin. Right up to the present time, the Professor has supplied beautiful backgrounds to all Loyola activities; and we feel that no play could be complete unless Professor Drouin faced the audience at the end of the National Anthem and took his graceful and sincere bow.

And so, to a man who has out-ruled even the longest reign of other faculty members, we pay, on behalf of the College, our most sincere respect, and hope he may see many more years of happiness as musical impres-sario at Loyola.

Refreshers Throughout Summer

Two Veteran Refresher Courses starting on June 3 and ending in December, will be held at Loyola College this summer. These courses will prepare students for either their Junior Matriculation or Senior Matriculation. It is expected that the Science Division of the Senior Matriculation Course will have completed Physics, Chemistry and Trigonometry lectures and all Lab. work by the commencement of the normal Arts and Science Course in September.

The present Junior Matriculation Course will finish their exams by May 8, and will be granted a three-week holiday before continuing their studies in the Senior Matriculation Class. It is noteworthy that the group as a whole, intend to continue their studies at Loyola. The enrollment for the summer courses has been proceeding at a steady rate.

Six Eight Year Men Graduate

Since this marks the fiftieth anniversary of the College, it is only natural that this year's graduating class will hold an enviable position in the future annals of Loyola.

A brief review of the members of this historic group shows that of all recent graduating classes this year's is hardest hit in the eight-year man category. In all there are but six men who have completed the entire eight years at Loyola. This constitutes something of a record, for as most will recall, last year's graduates had at least double that number of eight-year men.

Those men who will be leaving the College after eight years with us are, Harry Hall, Ed. Meagher, Jerry St. Cyr, Andre Beauregard, Rog Carriere and Russell Breen.

Alumni Dinner Saturday

On Saturday, May 11, the Loyola Alumni Association, under the capable chairmanship of Norrie Smith, a veteran of military service with the American forces, will gather to pay honor to graduates and present students who have done themselves proud in professional, religious, athletic and academic circles. Invitations have been sent to hundreds of Old Boys who are spread out throughout the nine provinces and the northern states.

The guest speaker will be Mr. Frank J. Shaughnessy, president of the International Baseball League, and father of no less than eight Loyola greats. Shag was guest speaker at the first Father and Son banquet back in 1941, old.

and if that address is any indication of what the Alumni are to hear on Saturday night, then a most amusing and enlightening speech is in the offing.

The guests of honor will be the Loyola football and hockey greats of the last half century, and in particular, the members of the 1946 Interprovincial Senior hockey champions — Loyola's first bid for Senior recognition. It is judged by many to be the best hockey team ever produced at Loyola, and this banquet is a fine way to honor their feats. Senior Class will also be among the honored guests, for theirs is the fiftieth graduating class at Loyola.

Message To Graduates

To the Members of the Graduating Class:

After a year of privileged contact with you, it is not difficult for me to frame a final and sincere personal message. And my message is one of hope—a hope that the years of your formation at Loyola have given a measure of maturity and self-assurance, and a body of sound moral and intellectual principles to guide you in whatever vocation it will be yours to follow. And I hope, furthermore, that each one of you will become in later years, and remain, a centre of influence for good among your fellows. The present pressing needs of the Church militant and of civil society demand men of principle, men of moral and intellectual integrity. It is your present, and will be your future task so to work that you will meet these needs. It has been Loyola's claim to have helped train leaders of men; and she expects you to bear witness to the truth of her claim. This you can do; and this, I know, you will do.

High School Highlights

By DON SUDDABY

We hereby state that this college is unsafe for man or beast. This statement was necessary after watching a prominent member gleefully careen madly around the campus and then make a distinct stop by lustily emitting a yell and then crashing headfirst into one of the goal posts. This little escapade was performed on Loyola's one and only motor roller. Needless to say it was the goal post that suffered in that deal.

With the closing of the S.O.S. stamp drive it is seen that class 4b has ended on top.

At long last something is emerging from the inner sanctum concerning the much discussed Sodality Social. It seems that it is definitely going to be held in the foyer and that they are hoping for T. Sullivan's ensemble. The date of this affair remains a deep dark secret but it appears that it will be around the end of May.

For the thrill of a lifetime we suggest journeying over to the stadium and seeing one of those sterling lacrosse practices. We stoutly uphold that nothing like it has been seen since the closing of the Roman forum. It's brutal!

Bro. Wolke's silver steeds have a downcast air these days as they see their use gradually being exhausted. The cause of this sad plight is the recent purchase of that shiny tractor. Of course it is slower than the horses but then it looks better. Oh well, they turned War Admiral out to pasture too.

The diamond got its first workout last week with the exhibition intra mural game between 4a and 4b. This proved to be a rather one-sided affair with the apparent accuracy of pitcher Mooney and the rather rusty arm of Dinty O'Shag. Nevertheless it was a start and there is more to come! Score up to the time of Fr. Bradley's appearance 4a-8; 4b-0.

The followers of the racquet and ball are avidly looking forward to the laying of the lines on Loyola's courts. 'Rubber arm' Gutelius, the Don Budge of fourth high has high hopes of beating Hart Punt, the champ.

As we close for the year we would like to thank all the class reporters for their valuable contributions.

To one and all we extend our best wishes for the coming summer and good luck in your exams.

CLASS REPORTS

4A

Bob Marchessault, the blue boy of 4a is on the injured list again. Ray Dauphais the other day entered this humble abode of learning sporting sun glasses. Frank Wickham seems to have competition in the brush cut department with the advent of Norm Peterson's latest hair-cut. We regret to announce to his adoring public that the Duke has not as yet made his appearance on the baseball field. "Fireball" Mooney and "Rubber Arm" Hilton lead the Four "A" Ball team to victory over Four "B" in the first two exhibition games.

4B

As the Baseball season comes into the limelight we can proudly look back over a very successful year. In intermural football we came into the finals only to be closely beaten by our rivals, Four "A". In Basketball our class exceeded all expectations by taking the Senior Inter-mural Championship. In the S.O.S. Stamp drive we obtained the highest amount in the High School. All these notable achievements and many others received their leadership from Father Sherry, S.J., our class teacher.

3A

Eric Howard represented the class in a recent play "The Traitors' Gate", the sale of tickets for the play went well and if there is any holiday, Three A has certainly earned it. Not hinting at anything we wonder why Mike Derinne was absent from COTC on the Royal's opening day. Gus Sperling and Hank Bozuelo took part in the recent swim meet.

What mysterious manoeuvres are taking place in the Tower, eh, Gus? Horace Elie covets the honors as Chief Zombie where COTC is concerned.

3C

June comes around every year, and this is no exception. Also with it comes the June finals. We boys of the class would like to offer our heartfelt congratulations to Mr. Higgins for his valuable contribution to the Loyola dramatic success of the year. We have just heard that Pizzagalli has finally picked a winner. Lots of luck in the finals and So Long.

2A

At last the voice of 2A has made itself heard, about time eh? Listan and Poupore are still squeezing poor victims between their bodies. O'Keefe and Ferguson are still as small as ever. Every body has been keeping away from Poison Ivy Forbes. Guess why? English and McManus have been attacking each other avidly in Greek as of late. Congratulations to Don Brown for his fine portrayal of Peg Clement in "Traitors' Gate".

2B

The world was deprived of a great star when Will DeCarteret was relieved of his How to Make a Radio book during Math class. Our Board of Directors convening on the Baseball-Football schedule have come upon a new position on the Rugby field. The next thing we know short stop will be French for half-back. If you look ahead of your streetcar in the morning you will find a sleek black figure sporting a huge pair of sun glasses, it will be 2B Gunder Haeg. Jack Monette. Leahy is still clamoring for a baseball game between the Science and Greek students. MGM dream boy Lorne Brown tells us he is starting in the big league. Pete Laroque claims he is going to complain to the Baseball league that he has only played 35 seconds up to date.

2D

Puttee and Stace are to be congratulated for their fine work on the Class Shrine. Alan and Cliff were taken in by Gaulborn's punch board while Proulx hit the jack-pot. Testu is busy planning his own Dark Room with Howell's invaluable help.

1A

Our class opened the baseball schedule on Monday. A number of students were eye witnesses to the opener at the Stadium (with permission, of course). Lou O'Connor is very comical lately, always looking for something which McVey usually has. Three stars from our class made the Elocution finals. Davis and Dooley have worn the floor down which leads to the prefect's office.

1B

In the last report let us review. In basketball we were defeated by 1D. Special honours go to Mooney, Caron, Fouhy and Flynn. They carried the heavy burden and were a great help to the class team. Congratulations to Bruce Dore who was the only boy in our class to make the elocution finals. Special thanks are proffered to Father Hodgins for the setting up and arranging of the beautiful shrine to the Blessed Virgin.

1D

In the final and deciding game of the basketball playoffs, our team swept to the championship

4th High B First In S.O.S. Drive

Father Sherry's boys have added another feather to their hat, by taking first place in the Sisters of Service Stamp Drive. The drive started with 4A leading, followed by 1E and 3B. It wasn't till the drive was half over that 4B made their first returns. Then the contest between 4A and 4B began. Up till last week, 4A had the lead, then 4B passed them to win with a lead of nine dollars.

Many thanks are due to Dennis La Berge and Harry Hannon, without whose help this drive would not have been a success. We would also like to thank all class representatives.

By our contribution to the Sisters, we are helping them in their work of religious education by mail. With this money, they will send ten thousand letters to the forgotten Catholics in the West of Canada. This drive was sponsored by the High School Sodality.

The final results are:

Class	Objective	Percent
4A	14.40	228
4B	14.80	278
3A	14.40	107
3B	15.20	146
3C	12.80	108
2A	17.65	88
2B	16.40	87
2C	14.40	121
2D	16.00	56
2E	10.00	120
1A	14.80	177
1B	16.00	106

Cap Your Big Moment with a SweetCap

Somewhere, sometime, big moments happen to everybody . . . and the immediate urge is for a really good cigarette. To cap such moments, in fact at any time, there is nothing like a SWEET CAP.

AROUND THE CAMPUS

By Bob Boyle

With the last chapters written and safely locked in the sport ledgers for another year, our Athletic officials can look over the years work correcting the mistakes and planning for bigger and better things in the way of sport at the beginning of next term.

The athletic activities this year can well come under the label of transition for it was indeed that in every sense of the word, as far as the college was concerned. Football returned in a small way, and an absolutely new future looms on the hockey horizon with the completion of a successful season in the Interprovincial league, Gordie Mariott's brain child. An attempt was made to establish basketball in the college and it suffered the fate of most experiments in sport.

However all that is so much water under the proverbial bridge. The important thing is to see what lies ahead next season.

Loyola omitted sending a delegate to the annual C.I.A.U. athletic conference which means that the grid teams will definitely not function in the Intermediate circuit next fall, which leaves two courses open. Either a schedule of exhibition games will be played with other Canadian colleges or as was originally intended at the end of last fall that the college team go completely American and via the invitation route engage the Freshman team of some of the smaller American Universities. In any event big things are brewing for the coming pigskin season and anything is liable to happen between now and the time the coach blows the whistle to open the first practice session.

The Interprovincial league which functioned in such a fine manner during the winter will be enlarged to admit a new entry, Assumption College from Windsor, Ontario. The added contestant will bring the loop strength to five, which means more game, which won't be hard for the players to take.

Basketball and skiing suffered in comparison to football and hockey, and as yet their fate remains undecided.

The four months ahead before any sports activities begin gives Athletic officials plenty of time to dream up ideas as to how things in a sporting way can be improved.

Alumni to Honor Hockey Champs at Saturday Banquet.

The first official recognition given to our Interprovincial championship hockey team will be at a banquet tendered in their honor by the college Alumni. The new gym in the central building will be the scene of the speech making and back-slapping and judging from reports forwarded by John Brayley, organizer of the affair, a fine time will be in the offing for all. Crests, artfully designed by the indomitable Charlie Shaw are to be presented to the cup holders and from what we hear they are quite the snappy things. Among the expected attendance will be a number of former athletic stars who in their years at the school left their mark on the gridiron or the ice lanes.

Skiers Seek Redress at LCAA Meet

President Al. Biega is going to have his hands full this afternoon trying to keep the college ski enthusiasts under control. Word has been traveling around of late that the hickory men aren't too well pleased with the LCAA ruling which placed their sport in the minor category.

The letter of protest, which appears elsewhere on this page is only one of a number that have been sent to this department stressing the need of advancing skiing to a higher rating.

That long promised constitution is scheduled to have its first public airing at this afternoon's session. It must be good judging from the length of time it took to prepare. Also on the agenda will be the reading of the financial report, and nomination of officers for next year.

Today's business is definitely of the important variety and the presence of the student body is necessary if the proper motions are to be passed. We saw a preview of the new constitution a few weeks ago, and there are a number of points which if passed by the assembly will give sports around the school that extra boost that has been lacking.

College Vet Seeks Ski Change

A college without the requisites for learning may be compared to the idea of time without motion; and just as the motion of the sun has always been the most feasible measurement of this idea, likewise have sports manifested themselves as the most practical method of developing that college spirit so necessary as a basis for mutual pride among the students, and kindling as it does, a more favorable disposition for learning.

It has, hence, come as a surprise to me that at a time when all major colleges are fostering skiing as a major activity in the field of sports, at a time when, after the restricting years of war, this sport has been offered for the first time, the conditions, and hence the opportunity for developing friendly rivalry and interesting competition among all colleges, and gives promise of becoming the football, of the winter season, that we should, after mature consideration, consider it a wise time to reduce the importance of this sport, and thus destroy, at reaping time, the benefits of this activity.

The recent decision of the L.C.A.A. to consider skiing as a minor sport in college activities has caused as much grievance as it has aroused protest among a strong group of college sportsmen; it is because of the above reasons that I write this letter, that it may further a reconsideration of a decision which of itself is founded on dissension and cannot but nourish enmity.

Rifle Club Ends Season

The March shooting of the DCRA and PQRA targets brought an end to the official rifle range activities for the year.

During the past week members of the club have been firing for proficiency badges with claims being made for a large number of top ranking badges.

The following have qualified for the undermentioned badges: 1st Class and Marksman, R. Finlayson.

1st Class, M. Fraser, M. Latour, R. Sutherland, G. McGee, C. Outridge, J. Pytlík and P. Rodrigue.

Paul Marchessault and Staff Sergeant Rouleau both qualified for 1st Class, Marksman and Experts badges, as did SSM. Smith.

On the whole a total of 11 first class, four marksman and expert badges were awarded.

COTC Loses In Volleyball Meet

A district volleyball tournament was held with the local Loyola entry going into the finale only to meet defeat at the hands of the District Depot 4 squad. In the two previous contests against Army Services and Joliette the Collegians had a rather easy time of it. However in the finals they found the DD4 outfit a little harder to handle, going down on the wrong end of a 15-8 count.

May 24, 25 Set For Two Night Fistic Tourney

According to plans announced at the time of writing, the Kid Gloves' Tournament will be held in the Stadium on Friday and Saturday evenings, the 24th and 25th of May.

Application forms have been sent to practically every school in Montreal, but the returns have been very slow. The only definite entries so far, are those of Loyola and St. Anthony's.

Officials of the event are making a determined effort to revive this particular meet, which in the past few years has remained inactive.

The large number of schools invited should prove to be the necessary factor in putting the tournament over, and bringing it up to the standards it held a few seasons back.

Here at Loyola, the tempo in boxing has slowed down considerably from that shown for the Golden Gloves' events. Only a few boxers have been very serious about their practice sessions, which may be explained by the fact that at present the fighters are forced to confine their activities strictly to the gym. room in the stadium.

As yet, there has been no sign of a ring being erected in the stadium, an essential part of any fighter's equipment.

With the big event scheduled to get under way two weeks from tomorrow night, officials of the meet will have to hustle to have things in readiness. However, it is expected that entries from other institutions will be forthcoming in time for the tournament.

L.C.A.A. Meeting 3.30 Today In Auditorium

The annual general meeting of the L.C.A.A. will take place this afternoon in the Auditorium at 3.30. The session was originally scheduled to be held Tuesday afternoon, but with a number of points still to be added to the agenda, the L.C.A.A. executive decided to postpone the meeting two days.

A lively time is expected to be had this afternoon because of the large number of subjects to be discussed. One of the main items will be the advancing of a movement by the college skiers to have the sport raised from its position in the minor brackets to that of a higher rating.

The financial report will be presented to the student body, subject to their approval. It is expected that the long awaited constitution will be ready for presentation. This constitution will, if accepted, be the first official constitution of the L.C.A.A. In former years, student body was governed merely by a set of rules.

Nominations for officers will be held, and any other business which might be brought up by the students in attendance, will be discussed. All classes in both College and High School, with the exception of first and second high, have a voice in the proceedings, and are expected to be present.

Whether or not the election of officers for next year will be held during the meeting, or whether they will be held as in former years by ballot at a later date, has not yet been announced by President Al Biega. President Biega has made it known that any difficulties students may have regarding athletic conditions around the school should be presented at the meeting, where they will be dealt with in a suitable manner.

Seminarians Show Style Against Collegians

Featuring a unique style of attack that had a combined high school and college team buffaloed from the first whistle, the Grand Seminary quintet blanketed the home squad 64-23 in the last exhibition game of the season, last week.

At half time the score read 26-9 for the visitors and from that point on the issue was never in doubt.

Donaghue and Tinsley led the Seminary attack racking up twelve and eleven points respectively. The Seminarians, comprised for the most part of American lads showed Loyola a type of play that was confusing throughout the whole contest. At times it appeared that the visitors play was so perfect that they seemed to be going through the motions without effort, while the homesters running helter skelter were getting no where in a hurry. In the early stages of the first half the game was played on even terms but within a few minutes the American squad put on their drive to rack up basket after basket.

Although backed by a comfortable margin the Seminarians continued their relentless attack in the final frame notching 38 more points while the best the collegians could do was to add 14 to their total. Jeff Hilton with eleven markers and Howie McCarney and Don Burke with six and three points were the big guns in the little Loyola attack.

Loyola Holds Swim Meet

The annual Loyola swim meet was held Tuesday night at the Knights of Columbus Pool. Because of the late hour at which the meet ended, it is impossible to present the winners of the various events.

On the whole, the aquatic team have turned in a remarkable performance considering the difficulties which they had to surmount. In the provincial championships, the team had little difficulty swamping all opposition, while in the Wallace Caven meet, they finished second to a powerful Montreal High entry.

Captain Cook Bids Loyola Unit Farewell

Former Adjutant, Training Officer Sends Best Wishes

It is with mixed feelings of regret and gratitude that I write these few lines of farewell upon my retirement as Adjutant of the C.O.T.C.

Regret, because my three years' association as a combined Adjutant and Training Officer of the Unit, having been most happy, have come to an end.

Gratitude for the opportunity of such close associations with both the Faculty of the College, whose unfailing co-operation and goodwill from the Rector down, has been such a great help, and the fine young men who have been members of the C.O.T.C. during my time.

I would like to mention especially, Capt. Fred. Befford, ever dependable; Lieut. Mike O'Brien, the hard-working Q.M., and the R.Q.M.S. Gerry Gallagher.

On the A. and T. Staff, C.S.M. Ray Dubé, whose unfailing reliability and courtesy are well known; C.S.M. S. R. Smith, R.C.D's, who has improved the shooting, and brought it to its present high standard; B.Q.M.S. Art Sullivan, whose efficiency in the stores greatly relieved both the Q.M. and the adjutant; S/Sgt. Ray Rouleau, 17th Hussars, our second A.I.

Capt. Steve Lanthier relieved me as Training Officer last December, most efficiently.

To my successor as Adjutant, Lieut. Kevin Kierans, M.C., I offer my best wishes.

I want to thank all the officers and N.C.O.'s who have served in the Unit under me for their fine spirit of loyalty.

In closing, I can offer you no better wish than that you will always try to serve your Church and your Country under the ever-helpful protection of Mary, the Queen of our Hearts.

Our congratulations to the Training Officer, Capt. Lanthier and his bride who were married a week ago.

C.O.T.C. Briefs

Mr. Kierans' "Battle of the North Shore of St. Aubin-sur-mer" and Mr. Brayley's "Crossing of the Rhine", etc., etc., have all been cancelled. It's too bad, in a way; it would have been a fitting climax to a year which saw the C.O.T.C.'s largest enrollment in the College history; the return of so many lads "who saw it" to its ranks, and the hope that they could infuse a little interest in to what has always been an obligation; a complete change-over in staff, system, method, and practically everything else the C.O.T.C. was noted for. Too, it would have been a fine way to mark the first anniversary of the end of hostilities in Europe. One year ago today, Germany folded. This "do" was scheduled for last night. It would have helped the college and the C.O.T.C. in a great number of ways, but the Colonel is a wise man, and sees many things not quite so obvious to us, the Hoi-Polloi. And studies, too, are not to be trifled with, as many exams started a good three weeks ago.

My, but this Jubilee year has been a great one. Just about every organization at the College has had an exceptional year, and the C.O.T.C. is no exception. I don't think anyone who was in the ski platoon (the last platoon) this winter will soon forget it. To put it mildly, it was quite an enjoyable and somewhat hectic week-end for all. An almost one-hundred per cent. new staff took over during the latter part of the season, and the change was quite noticeable. A C.O.T.C. banquet was to have filled out our 45-46 diary, but circumstances have dictated otherwise. A good year it has been, but only as a silvery ray of light to radiant sunshine in which the Unit will operate next year.

In closing up this year's book, we would like to say good-bye and many thanks to the Staff who have been with us during the past few years. To Col. Guerin, our C.O. throughout the war, to Major Inwood, his second in charge, who helped pilot the Unit over a rough course, and to the others who have recently left us. But our hearts go out especially to Capt. Cook, who was the true guiding light of the Unit through what were perhaps the toughest years of its existence. A fairer and more sympathetic officer would be hard to find, and Capt. Cook performed his duties as few others could. To you, sir, we say good-bye, many, many thanks, and the very best of luck.

The Bertram Stewart Essay contest has been brought back by the British Army this year, and the prize is valued at about four hundred dollars. Anyone who is interested may inquire at the Orderly Room.

H.Q. and the staff have asked that we extend to you all their thanks for a most successful year, and their best wishes for good luck in the coming most trying period, and for a very happy vacation. We follow theirs with our own for all the best. . . .

'Till next Fall then, we leave you with this burning reminder—"Sweat saves Blood and Tears, but Brains save Blood, Sweat and Tears."

IT'S A FABLE

IT'S A FACT

"EXPERIENCE IS A SURE TEACHER"

A shepherd, who had always been perfectly satisfied with his chosen career, one day led his flocks too close to the sea and was seized with an uncontrollable desire to become a sailor. He sold his sheep, bought a ship and set sail. Of course, he knew nothing about seamanship and, on the first voyage, the ship was lost and the amateur sailor barely escaped with his life. Needless to say, he moved back to his meadow and stayed there.

At EATON'S we've got 'way beyond the stage of "trial voyages." We've been in business for 76 years, and all that 76 years of merchandising experience goes into the choice and purchase of EATON'S Own Brands. No wonder they have come to be recognized as trusty symbols of quality and value.
